++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry and bright weather spreading east, lighter winds.

Today:
A lot of dry and bright weather with lighter winds than of late. Some wintry showers continuing in the east and Northern Isles but mostly dying out by afternoon. Cloudier later in the west, preceding rain. Feeling a little milder.

Tonight:
Dry at first and clear in the east but rain and hill snow spreading east overnight on a strengthening westerly wind. Some early frost in places.

Thursday:
Milder with outbreaks of rain for much of the country except the east coast. Strengthening westerly winds and a period of heavier rain moving south during the day.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Very strong winds for a time in the north on Friday morning, blustery wintry showers carried in northerly winds Friday and Saturday. Drier and brighter with light winds Sunday.
